

July TWA Newsletter

Hi TWA Members,

Here we are in July already. 2020 seems to be going by fast to me but maybe slow to others depending on what is happening in your life. I am enjoying the summer and hope you are as well.

These past few months have been a challenge for most of us. We still have a lot of work to do to make this world better for all. I hope you took advantage of the Listening tours and then took the survey on how we can do better.

I also wanted to share this article, Pandemic Could Scar a Generation of Working Mothers, about COVID-19 impact on working women that Suzan Morno-Wade, Xerox EVP and Chief Human Resources Officer, TWA Executive Sponsor and Member shared as a concern for the Women of Xerox. We would love to get your input on what TWA can offer to help you through these trying times. You can give feedback on this short survey.

Robin Doran, TWA Community Involvement Chair, who is also my longtime co-worker and friend shared with me that July 30 is International Friendship Day. She got me thinking about all of my friends and how much I need them. Good friends are good for our health. Friends can teach us so much, sometimes good and sometimes not so good (Flashback to High school and College days). See the link below from Robin on how we can celebrate our friends every day.

I want to say THANK YOU to all my friends that I have made through working at Xerox that have made work fun, interesting and have helped me to develop in more ways than I can count. Here's to many more I have yet to meet.

Take care and stay well,

Kelli Morgan
TWA President

Molly Efron Scholarship Announcement

Article: A 3-Point Framework for How to Be a Better Ally

In our efforts to be allies and take action on the movement to confront racial injustice, we know that action is different for each of us. If you are tentative to speak out or take action right now, there is a helpful three-step framework that Dr. Tiffany Jana offers as a way to become "a tool and not a weapon" in confronting racial injustice.
